What makes a DEGNER saddlebag special

Our saddlebags use leather over 4 mm thick, beyond the capability of an ordinary leather sewing machine. Durable, richly textured vegetable-tanned leather, oil-tanned leather and chrome-tanned saddle leather are chosen for lasting use. Vegetable-tanned leather has long been used in saddles, chaps and other hard-wearing riding equipment. Bags attached to saddles were essential on long journeys; their motorcycle descendants inherited the name saddlebag. The more you use the leather, the richer its natural character becomes. Enjoy a material that develops toward its best with the passing years.

Quick-release hardware

Original hardware makes opening and closing easy, even in gloves, with a simple quick-release action.

Some models omit this feature to suit their design.

Belt

Sturdy mounting straps are included to secure the bag to your motorcycle. Multiple holes simplify installation.

See p. 114 for installation instructions.

PE board & pocket

An internal pocket holds your vehicle registration documents. Polyethylene board reinforcement helps prevent loss of shape and greatly improves service life.

Some models omit this feature to suit their design.

D-rings

Auxiliary rings on the back let you tie the bag to its bracket with a leather cord, reducing movement while riding.

Leave a little slack when tying the cord.

Mounting tabs

Redesigned mounting tabs provide greater freedom of positioning, allowing installation on a wider range of motorcycles.

Some models use a handle-style mount to suit the bag's design.

Features vary by model.

Ready for rain

専用レインカバー付

DEGNER saddlebags come with a dedicated rain cover as standard.

Sudden rain is a major concern with saddlebags. Even leather wax has limits against rain and road spray, and water can be a major cause of damage. DEGNER saddlebags therefore include a dedicated rain cover. Each size is tailored to the bag: slip it on, pull the adjustment cord and it fits snugly. Fold it down compactly when not needed. Drainage holes in the bottom let out water thrown up by the tire that may enter at the back of the bag. Use the cover to help keep your saddlebag in good condition for longer.

Designed for everyday peace of mind.

Folds down like a shopping bag for compact carrying.

Slip it over and pull the adjustable cord for an easy, secure fit!

A polyurethane coating shields the bag from direct rainfall.

Hornback: the jewel of leather

Crown (head)

Only one distinctive crown can be taken from each animal. The largest raised scales on the head make a uniquely wild statement worthy of the name crown.

Hornback (back)

Raised scales across the back evoke a rugged mountain range, embodying the raw character of crocodile leather.

Tail

Raised scales running from back to tail emphasize the toughness of crocodile leather. Its strength allows even the tail to be used effectively.

This product uses crocodile leather compliant with CITES provisions.

ETC Case Features & Installation

Removable side sections fit separate-component ETC units.

Removable side sections let compatible models accommodate separate-component ETC transponders.
Some models have no side sections.

No mounting bracket required

Bolt to a suitable point on the motorcycle, or attach easily using the included cable ties or mounting straps.
Included accessories vary by model.
When sharing an existing mounting bolt, adjust its length as required.

Rigid resin-board base Mounting

A resin-board mounting base provides strength for secure fixing with bolts or cable ties.

ETC unit attaches to the case with hook-and-loop fastening.

After routing the unit's wiring, attach the included hook-and-loop adhesive sheet to its back and secure it inside the case.

DEGCODE

Post with #DEGCODE for a chance to win great prizes! Round 4's theme was Outfits with Bags. Here are the winning photos!

Everything suits my taste, with excellent design and storage. From low-maintenance practical pieces to genuine leather that develops a patina, and items with playful details, they always lift my mood. I'll support DEGNER for life!

negidakusaiko

A follower took this rare riding photo of me. I'm delighted you chose such a treasured memory. I love DEGNER so much that its online shop is always the first place I check when buying motorcycle gear.

yumi_sr400

The high-quality leather goods created by skilled craftspeople and thoughtful rider-focused details are truly wonderful. I enjoy using them all the time!

yoshi

I've used this favorite since I started riding my Rebel 1100. The leather has softened, and I'm beginning to enjoy its developing patina. Koromaru

I enjoy using my DEGNER gear every day. Shiso Furikake

With its quality feel and reassuring capacity, it's indispensable on every touring trip! MUchannel Miimo

Both design and durability are excellent. kimama_jii

The large, three-buckle side bag with real presence was a perfect match for my Intruder's substantial mid-size motorcycle proportions! incla_monkey

Thank you for all your posts! Look forward to our next campaign!

Leather care guide

Step 1: Brushing

Remove surface dust with a brush or cloth. Invisible dirt and debris can lodge in the leather's pores, so start with thorough brushing.

Step 2: Cleaning

Use a leather cleaner to remove dirt. Different formulas restore the leather's natural character or tackle stubborn stains.

Step 3: Water & Stain Protection

Apply a protective spray to help repel water and dirt. This simple step extends leather life and makes the next care session easier.

Step 4: Conditioning

Use a leather conditioner to help prevent cracking. Various formulas nourish, protect or soften leather.
protectors.

Step 5: Finishing

Finish by buffing with a dry cloth or brushing. Spread any excess conditioner evenly across the surface for a beautiful, uniform finish.

The recommended care sequence varies by product. Read the product instructions carefully before use.

Some leathers may discolor or stain. Always test first on an inconspicuous area.

Mounting Saddlebags

Choosing a Saddlebag

Check that the bag does not obstruct turn signals or reflectors.

Check that adequate ground clearance is maintained.

On the exhaust side, allow sufficient clearance (approximately one fist's width).

Mounting Bag Support Brackets

We recommend a support bracket and slide rail to reduce bag movement and prevent wheel contact.
A support bracket does not guarantee every bag will fit. See p. 52 for our bag supports and slide rails.

Slide Rail

Bag support bracket

Integrated support brackets (all-in-one type) are also available.

Remove the fender-strut bolt.

Fit the support bracket with the supplied bolt and spacer. When using a slide rail, mount them together.

Basic Saddlebag Mounting

1. Thread mounting straps through the slide rail or the strap slots in the integrated support bracket.

2. Hang the bag as shown.

3. Tie the lower rear mounting cords to the support bracket, leaving a little slack.

Mounting Cruiser Paired Saddlebags

1. Remove the seat and place crossover straps over the rear fender. Adjust width with hook-and-loop fastening and set height with the rear support strap.

2. Refit the seat and tie the lower rear mounting cords to the support bracket, leaving a little slack.

Mounting Hanger-Bracket Saddlebags

1. Remove the rear-fender bolt and fit the motorcycle-side bracket. Follow the included fitting instructions.

2. Hang the bag and insert the R-clip into the locking pin at the back. Check the fastening regularly to prevent accidental detachment.

Mounting Other Bags

Mounting Tool Bags

Secure with the mounting straps. Choose a position that does not interfere with controls or riding.

Mounting Tank Bags

Attach to the tank using the magnets or suction cups on the bag's base. Always use the safety retention strap.

Mounting Tail Bags with Quick-Fit Straps

1. Remove the seat and position the two straps.

2. Refit the seat over the straps.

3. Place the bag on the seat, fasten the buckles and adjust the strap lengths.

See detailed fitting instructions here.
